PETS IN OUR CARE

Foothills Animal Shelter is an open admissions shelter, meaning we never turn away an animal. The pets in our care come to us in many different ways—from Animal Control Officers who find lost pets in the community, to owners who can no longer care for their pets.

Metro Denver Animal Welfare Alliance

Foothills Animal Shelter is a member of the Metro Denver Animal Welfare Alliance (MDAWA), a coalition of 25 public and private shelters, rescue groups and other animal service providers. Their mission is to foster the collaborative efforts of its members to promote humane care for companion animals in our community.

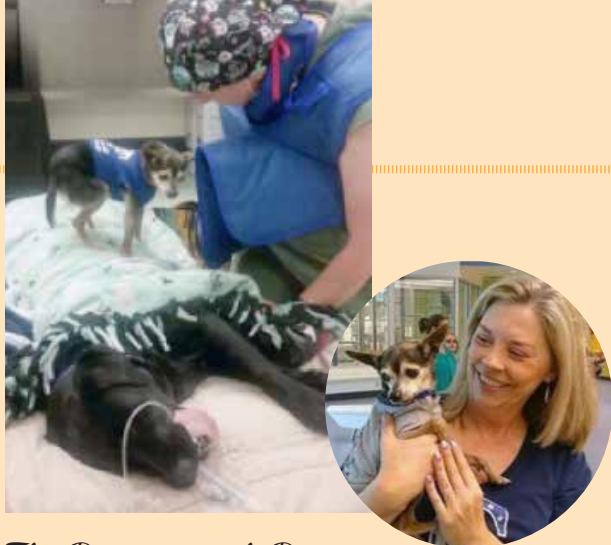

Animal Control Partners

We work closely with Animal Control Officers to keep our neighborhoods safe, protect animals and educate the community. The communities served include Arvada, Edgewater, Golden, Lakewood, Sheridan, Westminster, Wheat Ridge and unincorporated Jefferson County.

Suspected Victim of Cruelty Finds His Happy Ending

In December of 2016, two pit bull mixes were left in the Denver Animal Shelter's night drop kennels by an unidentified man. Extremely underweight, with mange and bacterial infections, the two dogs were in very poor shape and suspected victims of animal cruelty. After two months in Denver Animal Shelter's foster program, one of the dogs, Wifi, was transferred to Foothills Animal Shelter to find his forever home. In March of 2017, Wifi was adopted in a wonderful new home! Renamed Cena, which his owner Cole W. says is, "after Jon Cena, because he's so big and beefy," this success story is one full of heart and collaboration. "He's been the easiest dog I've ever had. He loves everyone—we got very lucky finding him," said Cole W.

The Patient with Patience

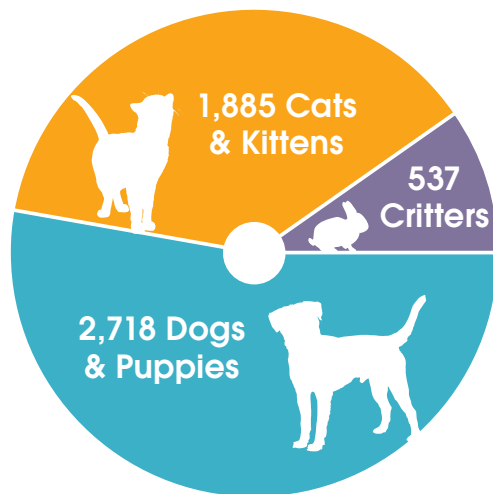

When TJ, a 9-year-old Chihuahua mix, was brought to Foothills Animal Shelter by a Good Samaritan in August, he looked very fragile and in need of immediate care. The Shelter’s Veterinary Services Team noticed that the tiny 5-pound dog was extremely dehydrated, thin and had a bad case of dental disease. Dr. Emily Hays, Director of Veterinary Services and Chief Veterinarian, and the Veterinary Services Team kept TJ in their surgery suite for several weeks while they cared for him. They performed a dental procedure and blood work to help get him healthy and ready to be adopted. Over time his blood work began to improve, and TJ himself began to adopt a new role within the team.

“TJ became a super, loveable character—just so social and quiet, and would walk around and help us,” says Dr. Hays. “He would often snuggle up with the dogs after surgery and comfort them while they were coming out of anesthesia. It was very sweet.”

Thankfully, after spending several weeks with the Team, TJ became healthy and ready to go up for adoption. Not long after, he was spotted by Lori W. who was looking for a friend for her older Chihuahua. She came to the Shelter to meet TJ and was immediately charmed. Now, TJ lives in his new home with his mom, Lori, his dad and a brother named Poco. We couldn’t be happier that TJ, the sweet Chihuahua that comforted other shelter dogs, has found his forever home with the comfort of his forever family!

ADOPTIONS

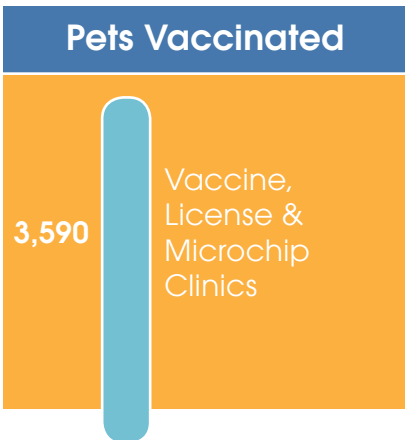

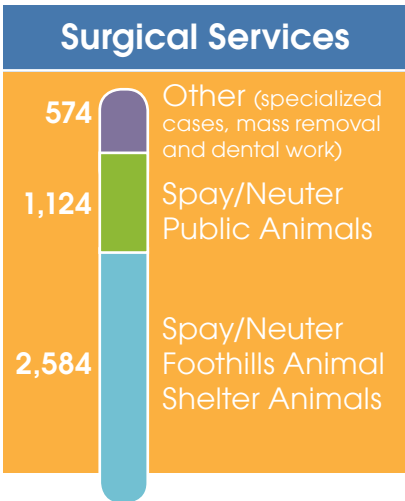

In 2017, Foothills Animal Shelter adopted 5,140 pets to their forever homes.

Jennifer S was recognized in September as Volunteer of the Month for being a reliable and hard-working volunteer since 2007 and caring for the Shelter’s cats as she piloted our new Offsite Adoption role.

HEALTH CARE

To help the pets in our community stay healthy and safe, Foothills Animal Shelter offers several affordable services to the public, including spay/neuter surgeries, vaccinations, licenses and microchips. Our Vaccine, License & Microchip Clinics take place weekly at the Shelter.

A Big Heart Beneath a Big Bark

Danny, a one-and-a-half-year-old black Labrador mix, first arrived in June 2016 from another shelter. He was in good health, but struggled with barking excessively at other animals while on a leash. He had tons of energy and at 65 pounds, he was difficult to control. Unfortunately, Danny was adopted but returned to the Shelter because of his energy and reactivity. At some point Danny had eaten a towel which blocked his intestines. The Shelter performed emergency surgery to remove the blockage and a large section of his small intestine, after which Danny needed time to recover.

The Shelter's Animal Enrichment Manager, Stephanie Baigent knew that Danny was a special dog, and decided to foster him to see how severe his issues were, and to begin positive reinforcement training. She took him home and realized that he was just a big love bug that needed guidance and a proper outlet for his energy. For the next several months, she worked tirelessly, training him, exercising him and giving Danny the structure he needed. Several organizations also stepped up to support Danny. The Barking Lot in Arvada provided doggie daycare for him twice per week, and Grace Dog Training & Behavior, as well as trainer Eric Gillaspay at Lone Tree Veterinary Medical Center, donated their services to make sure he received the top notch training he deserved. After eight months of extensive training and medical care, Danny was finally ready to find a forever home.

When the Kurtz family spotted Danny on the Shelter's website, they felt an instant connection to him. After thinking it over for a few days they decided to adopt him. Stephanie took Danny to visit them at their home. He acted like he was part of the pack and responded to the family giving training commands to him. The large family also has two Pugs, three horses and an acre for Danny to run on. Danny has found the perfect home and we couldn't be happier for him!

Our Foster volunteers provide care and loving temporary homes to animals in need until they are ready for adoption.

During the year, our dedicated network of 189 foster homes helped 826 pets heal, grow and thrive.

Our Foster Care Program serves:

- Animals too young to be adopted
- Mothers and nursing offspring
- Animals who need socialization
- Adoptable animals who need extra TLC in a home environment while they recover from temporary illness or a specialized surgery

We recognized Trudy F in July as Volunteer of the Month for being a reliable and hard-working foster volunteer for over five years. Wonderful, dedicated volunteers like her care for our foster animals.

Types of Animals Fostered

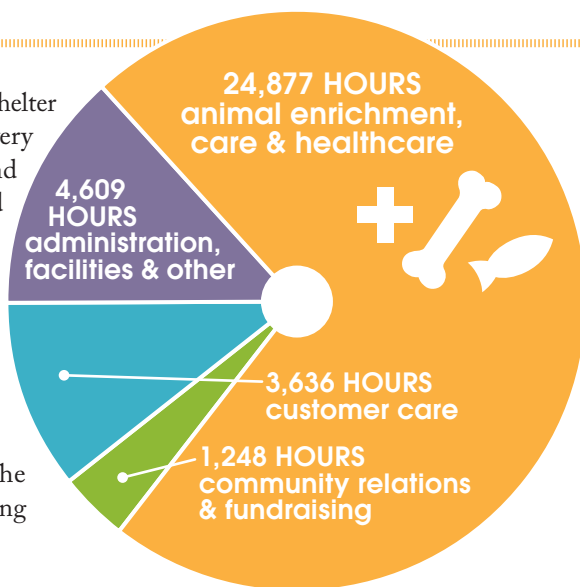

VOLUNTEERISM

Volunteers are an integral component of Foothills Animal Shelter and serve in more than 70 different roles throughout every department of the organization. Volunteers can be found helping in a wide variety of ways, from walking dogs and petting cats, to assisting our administrative teams with data entry, to helping patrons find the perfect new companion.

In 2017, 579 volunteers contributed an amazing 34,370 hours of their time—the equivalent of 16.5 full-time staff positions.

This impressive amount of time does not include the countless hours our volunteer foster families spent caring for infant and medically-fragile pets in their homes.

Busting Boredom for our Shelter Dogs

Most patrons are surprised to hear our adoptable dogs go out on at least three walks a day with volunteers. While those pooches were getting walks, visits, and forever homes, our dogs being held for behavioral or medical reasons were combating some serious boredom. Enter our Boredom Buster Volunteers! These volunteers have been active for at least 2 months and go through additional training to be able to work with our more fragile canines. This role is vital to enriching the lives of our dogs awaiting adoption and plays a key part in getting them ready for their forever home. Boredom Buster Volunteers continue to provide relief and help thousands of Foothills Animal Shelter dogs become more adoptable.

Clicker Training Helps More Cats Find a Forever Home

The shelter environment can be tough on dogs and people, but it is especially stressful for cats. Our committed volunteers took notice of this and created a new role to enrich the time our felines spend here—it also happened to increase their chance of adoption! Through providing mental stimulation and positive reinforcement, our adoptable cats became less fearful, more approachable, and easier to envision in your own home. The Clicker Training program is also being utilized with new arrivals, behavior cases, and medically fragile cats awaiting adoption status. Our Click N' Cat volunteers have been outstanding in providing the best environment possible for thousands of shelter cats that come through our doors!

PET LICENSING

A Jefferson County pet license not only helps get lost pets home, it also helps support the life-saving care we give to thousands of homeless animals each year.

- 🐾 In FY 2017, 44,025 licenses were issued in unincorporated Jefferson County, Arvada, Edgewater, Golden, Lakewood, Westminster and Wheat Ridge.
- 🐾 When pets are licensed, Animal Control Officers are often able to take lost pets directly home, skipping the need to bring them to the Shelter altogether.
- 🐾 We continue to spread awareness of the benefits of pet licensing so we can reunite more lost pets with their owners and decrease the number of stray animals coming through our doors.
